It is the 23rd century, the people of earth have been united as one country and they have formed an alliance with other planets in the galaxy. They now construct star-ships that can travel far into deep space. This is the story of the star-ship, Incorporated. The Incorporated is on a mission to explore the deep reaches of space to discover new life and new civilizations. Or that is what they say...

The Incorporated is orbiting a desert planet that was discovered by someone else years ago. On the bridge of the Incorporated, Captain John Quirk sits in his space-aged chair where he gives orders to his crew. Quirk said, "Captain's log November 28 2267. We have encountered a planet that has already been discovered by, Captain Adam Webster a hundred years before me. I have had my chief engineer construct a beam to use on the planet to erase any history that exists on the planet. Now, the people of the galaxy will think I was the one that discovered this place first so I will get all of the credit." Then Solio, one of the navigation officers said, "Captain, we are receiving a message from the Karasshians. They want to sell us a tanning salon for us to place on the Incorporated." Then Quirk said, "Ignore them and carry on with our mission." Then Creighton said, "Yo, Captain suh, we are receiving a message from the Klangtons." Then Quirk said, "Not those greedy idiots that want to start a war with us."

The Klangton General appears on the view-screen in front of the bridge. He said, "Captain John Quirk, we meet again." Then Quirk said, "Whatever you want, we will not do it." Then the general said, "Quirk sir, you say you stand for peace and prosperity. If that is so, then you are doing a poor job at demonstrating it. You are pretty much destroying an entire planet simply because you want fortune and fame." Then Quirk said, "You will see. I deserve that fortune and fame. You are just jealous that we are more liked by people in the galaxy than you." Then the general said, "Fine, carry out your plan. I will teach you a lesson. I will send the greatest evil you have ever seen." Then Quirk said, "Bring it on! I have been through a whole TV series and quite a few movies where I have dealt with death defying risks. What will make this evil any different?" Then the general said, "You will see. Ha ha ha ha!"

Mr. Spook is sitting at his computer and he said, "Captain, we have an unidentified being, entering our ship through our transport room." Then Quirk said, "Have a security team sent there to deal with it." A generic officer wearing a goofy green shirt (all of the generic officers wear goofy green shirts) is standing at the transport computer where the transporter is controlled. The transporter allows people to be transported off the ship and onto some other place. The being enters the room in the transporter. The transporter chief pulls out a ray gun on the thing. The thing runs up to the transport chief and he uses his abilities to incapacitate the chief and make him become what the thing is. A security officer calls the Captain and he said, "Captain, the thing, it killed generic crew man 7." Then the Captain said, "Try to figure out what this thing is and how we can stop it."

The thing speaks over the PA system on the Incorporated. It said, "We are the Board, we have come to make you one of us. We will harvest your intellectual and technological values and you will cease to be what you are. Insurrection is forbidden!" Security men surround the door to the transport room and they are armed with ray rifles. The door breaks down and an army of Board drones run out. One of the crew members shoots and kills one of the drones and a few others shoot and kill some of the drones. After awhile, the ray rifles do not seem to be harming them at all. One of the crew members calls the captain and he said, "Captain, the drones they seem to have adapted to our weapons. Our weapons are useless, ahhh!"

In the briefing room, the senior officers sit around a table and they discuss the situation. The Captain said, "Mr. Spook, what do you think of these, 'Board Drones.'" Then Spook said, "It is quite illogical that they would adapt to our weaponry. At the same time, it is perfectly logical they would want to destroy us since we are kind of doing the same to the world below us." Then Quirk said, "Doctor MacKay, do you know anything about lifeforms of this type?" Then Doctor MacKay said, "I'm a Doctor, not a robotics engineer." Then Quirk asks Chief Engineer O'Dobbly if he could do anything about these drones. O'Dobbly said, "Ay, I have never encountered anything like this before. We must do what my Irish ancestors have done to the British long ago. We must fight for our peace and independence. Even if it means we all have to get killed." Then the Captain said, "Well there would be no point in fighting them if we are all going to get killed in the end."

Then the Captain gets a call from Aurora, "Captain, the beam we shot down onto the planet has created some sort of black-hole. The Incorporated is slowly getting pulled towards the planet." Then the Captain said, "Acknowledged." Board Drones enter the mess hall and they begin to assimilate more and more of the crew members. A few of them do the brave heroic thing and blast them with ray guns. But that does nothing since they have already adapted to ray guns. Then Solio runs in and he takes out his Katana sword. He uses it and he slices up the Board Drones. He slices one into a few pieces and he collects the pieces and he brings them to the briefing room.

He places the remains of a Board Drone on the table and he shows them to the senior officers. O'Dobbly looks at them and he said, "Great Scott! These things, they are made out of wood." Then Spook said, "It appears as if my sense of logic is not effective against this mighty adversary." Then Quirk said, "Can any of you find any potential weaknesses?" Then the Doctor said, "Well it is quite hard since they do not seem to contain much anatomy."

Meanwhile, in engineering, Board Drones enter and they assimilate everyone in the room and they shut down the power to all of the systems on the Incorporated. In the briefing room, the lights turn off and the computers turn off. Then Spook said, "It appears as if our adversaries have cut the power to the entire ship. I am pressing everything on my communicator and I am not getting any responses." Then the Captain said, "Does anyone have a light? We will be needing one to look around through the hallways. Then Spook said, "That is not a good idea. We will become an easy target for the drones. We need to stay as hidden as possible. Do not worry, my Halkan half gives me superior night vision."

The senior officers head out of the ready room and they closely followed Mr. Spook. O'Dobbly leaves and heads for the bar. He said, "Ay Captain, I need some rum to deal with this." O'Dobbly enters the dark bar and he goes behind the counter and pours himself a glass of rum. Just after he pours the drink, he hears a sound of something creeping up to him. O'Dobbly looks around and he does not see anything. He then looks around some more and he sees a Board Drone. It said, "Lower your defenses and suffer the consequences!" Then O'Dobbly gets scared and he drops his drink of rum on the floor. The Board Drone runs away screaming. O'Dobbly said, "What did I do?" Then he realized what had happened. "Rum must be their weakness. But any sane Irishman would not give up his precious rum."

The entire ship is in chaos. Crew members are running for their lives while Board Drones are rampaging through the rooms and hallways on the ship and killing people and making them Board Drones. Solio cuts a few of them up with his sword. He knows he is being out-numbered so he escapes into his quarters. It is also dark because the power is out. The bridge crew manages to turn the emergency lights on so there is some light in the hallways. The ship is still very dim and dark. O'Dobbly grabs onto a barrel of rum and he drags it through the hallways to where the captain and Mr. Spook are. O'Dobbly finds them and he dumps a barrel of rum on two Board Drones and they malfunction and fall apart. The Captain said, "Good work O'Dobbly. You found a weakness for the Board Drones." Then Spook said, "This is quite illogical that such a vicious evil can be neutralized with a drink for fools." Then O'Dobbly said, "Hey, rum ain't no fool's drink." Then the captain said, "We have no time to argue, we need to save the ship. If we do nothing, it is either we will be destroyed by wooden zombies, or a death that is the oblivion of the planet below us."

The captain grabs a box full of squirt guns and he loads them up with rum. He gives them to all of the senior officers. He takes out his flip-phone communicator and he said,

"Captain to bridge, what is your status?" Then Creighton said, "This does not look good, captain. We have locked the doors to the bridge. Our defenses are holding, but weakening." Then the captain said, "Do the drink machines on the bridge work?" Then Creighton said, "Yes they do." Then Quirk said, "Replicate rum and throw it at the drones. It is their only known weakness." The bridge crew manages to make a vast quantity of rum to use against the drones.

The drones are being killed off one by one until there are barely any of them left. O'Dobbly tries to open the door to engineering but it is sealed shut. He asked the captain for assistance and he pulls out a ray gun and he blasts the door down. They go into engineering. They find that the drones shut off the power to all of the engineering. The captain calls the bridge and he asks, "How long will it be before we are sent into the oblivion of the black-hole?" The crewman said, "ten minutes." Then the captain said, "O'Dobbly, we need this engine back on right now so we can escape this catastrophe that exists below us." Then O'Dobbly said, "The engine is out cold. It will take thirty minutes for the engine to get back up online." Then Quirk said, "Is there anyway to make it come on faster?" Then O'Dobbly said, "Ay, you cannot change the laws of physics!"

Then Quirk said, "I am going to make an announcement to the whole crew." Quirk pulls out his flip-phone communicator and he said, "Attention crew of the star-ship, Incorporated. This is your captain speaking. It is certain that we will be destroyed into sub-space oblivion because of what we have done to the planet below us. The Board has shut down our main engines so we cannot leave orbit. We are all dead. I suggest you say your prayers right now because we need a miracle to save us."

Then Mr. Spook on the bridge said, "We do have a nuclear power source in the power storage area. I could get to it and use it to create a fusion that will catapult us far away from the disaster." Then Creighton said, "Spook sir, you will be dead if you go back there." Then Spook said, "It is perfectly logical for one to sacrifice himself to save others. I will do what I must." Spook and Creighton head for the secret power storage area.

They arrive at the power storage area and they see a guard guarding the place. Creighton approaches the guard and he said, "Show me to ya nuclear powa source." Then the guard said, "I cannot comply." Then Spook grabs onto the guard's neck and he incapacitates the guard. Then Spook said, "You stay here, I will go in alone and fix the problem." Spook runs to the back and a glass door closes behind him. He finds the nuclear power source and he alters the outside of it and he presses a few buttons on it. Radiation quickly enters the room and Mr. Spook is exposed.

On the bridge, a crew member said, "Captain, a large quantity of energy just magically appeared into our systems." Then the Captain said, "Never question dumb luck. Get us out of here Mr. Solio." The Incorporated leaves the planet's orbit and the people on board are safe. Quirk is called into the storage section. The doctor comes with him. Quirk looks through the glass door and he sees Spook barely alive and just sitting there waiting to die. Spook said, "You have been a good friend to me, Captain. I have sacrificed myself to save the crew. I must leave now so I can rest in the blackness of eternity. Be strong and do great." Mr. Spook does a hand gesture that is his middle finger and ring finger connected to each other with the index finger and the pinky finger facing away from the center. Spook then looks at the doctor and he whispers in his ear, "Don't forget." Then Mr. Spook slowly falls to the ground.

The entire Incorporated crew sits around a capsule that contains the body of Mr. Spook. A Halken priest makes a speech and people that the characters have never seen before show up and they cry in a very fake and loud sob.

The Captain returns to the bridge and so does the rest of the crew. The Captain said, "Spook died so we can continue our lives aboard this star-ship. Ensign, plot a course for the wigwammy system." Then the ensign does such.

The Incorporated crew will Return
